most characters in the bible are men yet they are hardly analysed as such masculinity and the bible provides the first comprehensive survey of approaches that remedy this situation these are studies that utilize insights from the field of masculinity studies to further biblical studies the volume offers a representative overview of both fields and presents a new exegesis of a well known biblical text mark 6 to show how this approach leads to new insights by presenting the field of masculinity studies the volume performs a service for those working in biblical studies and related disciplines but have not explored this approach yet at the same time the volume shows by surveying the past two decades of publications in the field what results have been achieved so far and where open questions remain in the exegesis of mark 6 it becomes clear that one of these challenges the often very specific and intersectional character of masculinity can be addressed successfully when consciously combining approaches such as narrative and ritual analyses in revelations of ideology g anthony keddie proposes a new theory of the social function of judaeen apocalyptic texts produced in early roman palestine 63 bce 70 ce in contrast to evaluations of jewish and early christian apocalyptic texts as literature of the oppressed or literature of resistance against empire keddie demonstrates that scribes produced apocalyptic texts to advance ideologies aimed at self legitimation by revealing that their opponents constituted an exploitative class scribes generated apocalyptic ideologies that situated them in the same exploited class as their constituents through careful historical and ideological criticism of the psalms of solomon parables of enoch testament of moises and q source keddie identifies an internally diverse tradition of apocalyptic class rhetoric in late second temple judaism spes christiana is the journal of the european adventist society of theology and religious studies easts it contains articles from all subdisciplines of theology biblical studies church history systematic theology practical theology and mission studies as well as auxiliary disciplines major fields and themes of publication include all that are either related to adventism in europe or researched by european adventist scholars the oxford handbook of postcolonial biblical criticism is a comprehensive treatment of a relatively new form of scholarship generally speaking postcolonialism aims to critique and dismantle hegemonic worldviews and power structures while giving voice to previously marginalized peoples and systems of thought this approach has inevitably engaged with the text and reception of the bible a scripture that western colonizers introduced to and often imposed upon their colonial subjects with a globally diverse list of contributors the handbook aims to cover the perspective and context of the authors of the bible as well as the modern experiences of imperialism resistance decolonization and nationalism former colleagues and students honour prof dr a van de beek with contributions in this festschrift on themes that have become central in his theology christology theology of israel eschatology theology of the church creation theology and freedom of religion since its emergence a few years ago postcolonial biblical criticism has witnessed swift expansion and development in biblical studies this critical approach has been increasingly applied to biblical texts as well as modern and postmodern interpretations and interpreters of these texts yielding an ever growing body of dissertations scholarly articles and volumes in the process this approach has become increasingly sophisticated as well in matters of method and theory this postcolonial commentary on the new testament writings represents a critical benchmark in postcolonial biblical criticism indeed the commentary stands as the most comprehensive application to date of postcolonial criticism to the biblical texts with its focus on the entire corpus of the new testament it places the reality and ramifications of imperial colonial frameworks and relations at the centre of biblical criticism the various entries pursue their analysis across a broad range of concerns and through a number of different approaches they show among other things how texts and interpretations construct and or relate to their respective imperial colonial contexts foreground literary rhetorical and ideological marks of coloniality and postcoloniality in both texts and interpretations reveal how postcolonial reading strategies disrupt and destabilize hegemonic biblical criticism and engage in critical dialogue with the visions and projects identified in texts as well as in interpretations toward this end the commentary has recourse to a highly distinguished and diversified roster of scholars making this a definite point of reference for years to come
